Chronic Disease Management

Approximately 33% of adults aged 65 and older have diabetes. About 50% of adults in this age group have prediabetes. A significant number of older adults have diabetes without knowing it, as symptoms can be mistaken for normal signs of aging. Most older adults with diabetes have Type 2 diabetes, which is driven by age-related insulin resistance and changes in how the body processes sugar.

Over 80% of adults aged 65 and older live with two or more chronic conditions, such as heart disease, high blood pressure, arthritis, or diabetes. Diabetes accelerates risks for cognitive impairment, depression, urinary incontinence, muscle loss, frailty, and mobility challenges.

How can you put the brakes on diabetes and its complications (heart disease and stroke, blindness and other eye problems, kidney disease, and nerve damage)?

- ✓ Follow a healthy eating plan. Include more non-starchy vegetables such as broccoli, spinach, and green beans. Avoid added sugars, refined grains, and highly processed foods.
- ✓ Be physically active for at least 150 minutes a week, 30 minutes a day for five days or however you want to split it up.
- ✓ Manage your ABCs: Get a regular A1C (blood sugar) test, keep your blood pressure below 140/90, control your cholesterol levels, and stop smoking.
- ✓ Lose weight if needed.
- ✓ Take medicines as instructed.
- ✓ Make and keep appointments with your health care team.

You can both prevent diabetes and its complications and work to improve it with a healthy diet, physical activity, losing weight if needed, managing your ABCs, losing weight if needed, taking medicines as instructed, and keeping appointments with your doctor.
